Queuent and National Service Center join forces to mobilize restaurant and hospitality customer service.

Greenville, SC.— Queuent, a leading provider of customer queuing solutions using interactive queuing technology for the restaurant and hospitality industry, today announced the selection of National Service Center to provide installation, training, and support services for Queuent's Wait List Manager product lines. Queuent's Wait List Manager products enables restaurants to easily and efficiently call waiting guests on their mobile phones to notify them that seating is available, then allows the guest to confirm, delay, or cancel seating. By adding flexibility to the customer wait experience, restaurants are able to attract and retain more guests, improve customer satisfaction, and increase operational efficiency. Demand for Queuent's Wait List Manager products for casual dining restaurants is increasing dramatically and National Service Center provides the means to install and support a national customer base.

"We are very excited about the professionalism and breadth of services NSC can provide us and our customers," says Bob Walter, Queuent CEO. "In the highly competitive restaurant industry, our customers are demanding new and creative ways to improve customer service. They have selected Wait List Manager to help them do this and expect professional installation, training, and 24x7 support services. We believe NSC is the best to provide this to our customers."

"National Service Center is thrilled to be able to take part in implementing such an innovation for restaurant and hospitality customer service. We are confident that our experience and expertise in this arena will lead to a successful deployment and a mutually rewarding partnership between companies," says Joe Pittillo, NSC President.
